WE NOMINATE

The 71 employees of Princeton Hospital who this coming Monday evening at the 41st annual meeting of the Princeton Hospital Corporation will be singled out for "honor awards" in recognition of faithful community service ranging from five to 31 years. At this point in the Hospital's development, with the Corporation's membership engaged in a so-called "power struggle" in which the "outs" are lambasting the "ins", and vice versa (see Mailbox), it is beginning to appear as if the contributions of these loyal men and women, constituting one-sixth of the Hospital's full-time staff, may well be over-shadowed by charges and recriminations.

Marking the first time that the Hospital, operating under a revised set of personnel policies, has recognized longevity on a basis of 5, 10, 15 and 20 years, Monday evening's roster lists 56 with five to nine years of service, four with a decade, eight with 15 to 19 years, and an unusual trio whose tours of duty fall into the 27-to-31 bracket. A departmental analysis of the awards shows that eight of the 16 members of the Laundry will be cited, as will 23 per cent of the Maintenance crew, 19 per cent of both the Housekeeping Department and administrative employees, 17 per cent of the dietary staff, and 13 per cent of the nurses.

The dean of all Hospital employees, whose combined salaries represent some 72 per cent of projected $2,500,000 expense-budget for 1961, is 58-year old Hugh Terry, a native of Washington, D. C., and an alumnus of Howard University. It was in 1929, just as Princeton was first experiencing the pinches of the "Great Depression", that Terry accepted a "temporary job" and liked what he found in the then new Hospital building. His major interests, aside from wrestling the ever-increasing demands of varied patient-menus, have over the years embraced the presidency of his Trenton church's Holy Name Society and membership on the Executive Board of the Mercer County Federation of Holy Name Societies.

One of the Princeton Community's best-known members is Walter Massey, born in King Williams, Va., some 53 years ago and in his 30th year as the Hospital's senior operating room orderly. Massey, who supplements his Hospital earnings by working nights at the Nassau Inn, has now trundled nearly 50,000 patients into and out of operating-rooms and has never ceased to marvel at how medical science has learned to "save what were once serious cases." He has noted, and with understandable pride, that in walking from his Birch Avenue home to his evening job at the "Nass" he often meets "10 to 12 of my patients."

Seniority on the Hospital's distaff side belongs to Mrs. Helen Gellin Carter, present-day office manager and an employee since January, 1934. A graduate of Princeton High School and a pioneer with what is now the Educational Testing Service, she did a bit of everything in the early years and even now, in periods of stress, lends a hand with the Hospital switchboard. Several years back, in "Broadcast", the Hospital's prize-winning employee publication, she coined a memorable, almost Churchillian, sentence: "I don't know how much a part of the Hospital I really am; all I know is that the Hospital is part of me."

For anonymously providing essential services in times of individual, family and community crises; for helping endow a community center with a necessary esprit de corps and a sense of continuity: these Hospital staff members are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

TRUSTEES TO BE CHOSEN

In Heated Contest. Members of the Princeton Hospital Corporation and interested citizens of the Princeton Community will gather Monday night at the Princeton Playhouse for the annual meeting of the corporation, an event which will bring to a climax many weeks of charges, rebuttals, rumors and arguments over the roles of the Hospital Board of Trustees, the medical staff and the Hospital administration.

Because of the keen community interest in the meeting, the Hospital has taken over the 1150-seat Playhouse to accommodate the 850-plus members of the corporation and others who will attend. As a rule, annual meetings are held in the Hospital.

At the meeting, which will begin at 8 p.m., members of the corporation will cast their ballots for members of the Hospital Board of Trustees. Eleven candidates have been nominated for the five available positions.

Five candidates are being sponsored by a new organization, the Friends of Princeton Hospital. They are Dr. Robert Garber, Mrs. Harry C. Hart, Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, Dr. Richard A. Lester and Norman Sprague.

The candidates endorsed by the Hospital's Board of Trustees are George Griffing, Bernard Kilgore and Mrs. William L. Wilson, all incumbents; Lee H. Bristol, Jr., and Leslie L. Vivian, Jr. The eleventh candidate, running without the endorsement of either group, is Mrs. John G. Whitwell.

Two Statements Issued. In a letter mailed this week to all members of the corporation, the Hospital's trustees urge the presence and vote of each member at Monday night's meeting, which they refer to as "the most important in the Hospital's history." They point out the high level of satisfaction expressed by patients with the care they receive at the Hospital (Opinion Research questionnaires, given to each patient at the time of discharge, show that 81 percent of the 1960 patients reported their care "very good," 14 percent "good", two percent "average", zero percent "poor", zero "very poor" and three percent "no opinion." The figures were released this week by Princeton Hospital.)

Two Princeton doctors, representing a group of physicians at the Hospital, have also released a letter to TOWN TOPICS. In their statement, they express their appreciation for the work of the trustees, but point out that doctors on the Hospital staff have felt resentment against certain actions of the trustees and the way these actions were carried out.

From the Trustees. The letter sent by the trustees to members of the Hospital corporation follows:

Dear Member:

"The Annual Meeting of the Corporation to be held on Monday evening, February 27, 1961 at 8:00 p.m. in the Princeton Playhouse will be the most important in the Hospital's history.

"For the first time, an organized group of citizens is questioning the condition of Princeton Hospital, its services to its patients, and the effectiveness of its management by the Board of Trustees. While they are basically incorrect in their conclusions and represent only a small minority of the community as a whole, their membership does comprise a significant part of the Corporation. The presence and the vote of each member therefore can have a vital bearing on the future of the Hospital.

"Princeton Hospital today is one of the finest smaller hospitals in the country. Its reputation, as recently as this last Fall, was given national recognition when it was chosen as one of the twenty-three most outstanding hospitals in the United States to be visited by an international group of hospital and medical authorities. Princeton can well be proud of this selection.

"Care of the patients, which is the sole purpose of the Hospital, is at a high level. This is proven by results of surveys made monthly by one of the best known public opinion organizations. It is further attested by the express satisfaction of an overwhelming majority of the patients themselves, particularly those who have a basis for comparison with other hospitals.

"The effectiveness of the management of the Hospital by the Board of Trustees should be judged by these results. Similarly, any decision as to the capabilities of the Board of Trustees to continue the improvement and future development of the Hospital to meet the requirements of a rapidly increasing population and the demands of modern medicine can be determined only on a basis of past accomplishments.

"During recent weeks you have read numerous statements which are at variance with the record. Many of them are incorrect or misleading as would have been apparent had a conscientious effort been made to determine the facts before their release for publication. This is our disagreement with the organization which has assumed the use of the Hospital's name, thereby confusing the public as to its official connection.

"We need, encourage, and welcome the interest and constructive criticism of the whole community. Its support is essential to our daily operations as well as our future expansion. Constructive criticisms are proper steps toward the attainment of ultimate goals.

"There are eleven candidates for positions on the Board of Trustees. All as individuals seem qualified. There are five, however, who are especially well-fitted, either by virtue of their experience and proven ability as members of the Board of Trustees, or by experience in other areas which particularly fit them for trusteeship. They are — George R. Griffing, Bernard Kilgore, Mrs. William L. Wilson, Lee H. Bristol, Jr. and Leslie L. Vivian, Jr.

"Three of them — Mr. Griffing, Mr. Kilgore, and Mrs. Wilson — are currently members of the Board whose terms expire on February 27. The other two, Mr. Bristol and Mr. Vivian are among the most competent young men of the community with valuable backgrounds which would be most useful on the Board.

"Bear in mind, that in effect three would be new members of the Board; Mrs. Wilson has served on the Board only a few months, filling an unexpired term. Since two members have served on the Board and know its problems, a necessary degree of continuity is provided. This is essential in the management of any organization which has an annual operating budget in excess of two and one half million dollars, with 430 employees, and which is the fourth largest employer in Princeton.

"For the good of the community, we again remind you of your responsibility as members of the Corporation to attend the meeting and use your vote to insure the best possible hospital care for yourself, your families and your friends."

Signatures were those of Princeton Hospital — Board of Trustees: J. Forsier Ahcel, B. Franklin Bunn, George W. Conover, George R. Cook, 3rd, Mrs. Marshal Dana, E. W. Engstrom, R. Kenneth Fairman, Mrs. Donald W. Griffin, George R. Griffing, Bernard Kilgore, Mrs. Bradford B. Locke, Richard G. Magill, Joseph J. Redding, Albridge C. Smith, 3rd, Edgar S. Smith, John H. Wallace, Jr., Mrs. William L. Wilson and Wilbur H. York.

From a Physicians' Group. Dr. DeWitt H. Smith and Dr. Jeannette Munro, acting as spokesmen for a group of Hospital doctors, have issued the following statement:

To the Editor of Town Topics:

"Although several of the points raised by Mr. Samuels in his letter of two weeks ago concerning the Princeton Hospital were answered last week, there remain others that should be challenged.

"It is open to question whether the publicity so far given has been adverse in its effects and has tended to undermine the confidence of the community in its hospital. The Friends of the Princeton Hospital was a spontaneous movement of a diverse group who recognized that widespread rumors were already undermining public confidence.

"It is irrelevant that many of the individuals concerned were not last year members of the hospital corporation. As with many others on whom the hospital depends for its support financially and as volunteers, they simply were not corporation members last year. They have been contributors of dollars and time over the years and in this sense have been friends of long standing.

"More important and deserving of correction are other impressions created. One assertion, that in the action initiated at last year's meeting of the hospital corporation toward enlarging membership. The action taken was to appoint a committee at a later date of which Mr. Samuels was chairman.

"But since the report of this committee is not to be forthcoming till this year's corporation meeting, the trustees' action has scarcely contributed to enlarging the membership. There has been one positive action taken in this direction, however, for the advertisement of the trustees concerning membership in the corporation was printed in larger type than in former years.

"The doctors know very well the legal relationship of the trustees and staff. The trustees and the medical staff have in common the interests of the patients of the hospital, and this is the central issue. If either party finds that the actions of the other are detrimental to these interests, it is the responsibiliti of each to see that the situation is corrected. To this end the staff members are firmly dedicated.

"Many difficulties now current in the hospital are advisedly not fully aired. But many people in Princeton are aware that the doctors of the staff have taken exception to certain actions of the trustees and to the manner in which these were carried out. They are perhaps aware that there has been difficulty in bringing about a meeting of minds. But resentment against these actions in no way detracts from appreciation for tha work of the trustees.

"The appointment of Dr. Rourke to investigate various aspects of the hospital was an action of the trustees which they took on the heels of protestations of their eagerness to co-operate with the doctors of the hospital. However, the doctors were first appraised of Dr. Rourke's coming visit on the day of release in the press. Misgivings have arisen because of such disparity between words and action.

"The objectives of the Friends of the Princeton Hospital have been publicized in your pages and in a letter to all members of the corporation. In general these include wider community participation in the hospital corporation and in its affairs, assisting the hospital in its efforts to provide the best medical service available, securing the best trustees for the hospital, backing a policy of rotation of trustees so as to steer a middle ground between terms so short as to be of little value, and so long as to amount to self perpetuation, and assisting in raising funds for the hospital's capital needs. It will be seen that these are good objectives. If the group conducts itself well and with persistence, it has the chance of becoming an auxiliary which, like the Friends of the Princeton Library and the Friends of Music, is very useful to the organization which it serves."

PERSON TO PERSON

We read in the Journal of Lifetime Living a formula that may interest you. It did us, and here it is: "It's wonderful to be lazy . . . If you know how, it saves your energy, relaxes your mind and spares your heart — and you needn't feel at all guilty about it if you CONFINE YOUR LAZINESS to these approved ways: Be too lazy to frown, fidget and worry. Don't wear yourself out carrying the needweights of grudges, prejudices and envy. Listen more than you talk and see how much better you feel. Don't quarrel over small things. Let the other fellow think he's right when it really doesn't matter. Don't run to catch a bus. The next one is better for your heart. Conserve your mental muscles for things that count, and never bother to wrestle with the inevitable, the imponderable or the insignificant."

If you follow that formula we doubt you'd ever get a reputation for being lazy, for you could probably work your head off with nary a tired day . . . as they say, work never killed anybody. And that reminds us to say once again that we really go to work for you to save your money and be sure you get the utmost satisfaction. Your welfare is our welfare, so see us soon, please?

"LIKE A FIRECRACKER"

Trap Rock Company Explains. Wilkes Davis of Kingston Trap Rock and Anthony J. Petro of Vibra-Tech Engineers, Inc. of Hazleton, Pa., appeared before Township Committee Monday night. They explained the company's blasting policies and the scientific bases of blasting to Committee and a "show-me" audience of house-holders who claim varying degrees of damage to their homes by Trap Rock.

The three blasting dates explained by the Kingston representative and the blasting expert were those of October 26 and December 5, 1960, and February 2, 1961. Mr. Davis reiterated the company's explanation of one of the December 5 explosions, saying that it occurrrd 22 seconds after a plane had broken the sound barrier and had, therefore, been blamed for more noise than it caused.

Albert J. Getz, chief mine safety engineer for the state, said that 95 percent of the problems were caused by air concussion, rather than ground vibration. There followed a lengthy discussion of the different effects of air and ground disturbances and finally the householders present said they did not care which kind of blast caused the trouble so long as the company recognized that its blasting was indeed causing damage.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Petro said that seismographs taken in the homes or on the properties of residents in the area did not indicate enough vibration to cause damage.

One resident of Franklin Township than said that she had watched a 25-pound piece of plaster fall from her ceiling immediately following a blast. Mrs. Maurice Healy of Princeton Kingston Road said that windows on the side of her house facing the direction of the quarry were broken following a blast, and Committeeman Thomas P. Cook told of a neighbor who had watched a crack run up her fireplace wall in the wake of a blast.

Dr. Elmer Alpert of Autumn Hill Road, who with his wife has reported frequently on the effects of blasting on the Alpert home, suggested that seismographs might be insensitive or in error if they did not report what was obvious to eye and ear.

William Dodge, 641 Lake Drive, asked whether resonant frequency might not be responsible for blasting damage but Mr. Petro said that the blasts themselves were so short in duration that resonancy not a factor.

EARLY SIGN OF SPRING: Sunday's welcome thaw sent the Millstone River surging over its boundaries at the Kingston bridge. And as might be expected, Stony Brook put Quaker Road two feet under water early in the week. (Staff Photo.)

Human Factor. Committee-John F. Mount said that the company and state engineers should take into account the human factor in considering blasts. He also pointed out that many research organizations and light industries might want to build in the research zone set aside in the northeastern part of Princeton Township and that blasting operations might so affect delicate instruments that companies would hesitate to build in the area.

Mr. Davis said the company was aware of this, and was doing all it could to lessen the effects of blasting. "We set off a lot of firecrackers," Mr. Davis said, "and we may have to make noise and remove a rock overhang in order to insure the safety of our workmen. We are doing all we can to improve, and you have our good faith that we will continue."

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman told Mr. Davis that Committee took the position that Kingston Trap Rock had a responsibility toward its neighbors, and would have increased responsibility as the Township grows. "We believe that damage has indeed been caused, and we hope you will re-evaluate, study, try to improve, and not be completely defensive."

In further business, Committee tabled a resolution to establish a traffic safety committee until the slate of members can be named. Committeeman Marvel announced the formation of a committee to study dogs. Committee approved the names of Lawrence Bayern and Francis M. Austin, Jr. as committee members representing the Township.

Mrs. Allan W. Stephens and Mrs. Robert N. Smyth are scheduled to be named to the committee by Borough Council. Dr. Oscar Sussman, veterinarian, will serve as consultant and Township police chief James Campbell will sit in on committee meetings.

ROHRER RE-ELECTED

As School Board President. Graham Rohrer was re-elected president of Princeton Borough Board of Education at its reorganization meeting Monday night. Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch was named again as vice president and chairman of the instructional committee, and Bryan V. Moore was reappointed chairman of the property committee. William K. Evans, newly-elected board member, was officially sworn in at the meeting.

Plans for a teaching institute to be held Monday, March 13, were announced by Chester R. Stroup, superintendent of schools, at the regular board meeting following the reorganization meeting. Teachers and administrative staff members from all Borough schools and from the Princeton High School sending districts will attend the institute.

The board voted to postpone the closing of school this year from Wednesday, June 14, to Thursday, June 15, in order to make up for a day lost during the recent snowstorms. The school calendar for 1961-62 was also adopted. Classes will open Thursday, September 7, and close Thursday, June 21. In addition to the regular holidays at Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter, there will be a two-day holiday at Washington's Birthday, Thursday and Friday, February 22 and 23, will both be holidays.

Members of the "Paladins," recently-elected student board of education, will attend the next meeting of the Borough board, to be held Tuesday, March 28, at 8 p.m. Each member of the student board will present a proposal for improvement of some phase of high school activity.

BOARD REORGANIZES

Mrs. Epstein Re-Elected. Mrs. Jess Epstein was re-elected president of the Township Board of Education at the Board's re-organization meeting Monday night. Richard Pearson was re-elected vice-president.

A new committee on long-range planning and policy has been formed under the chairmanship of Mr. Pearson. Its two-fold purpose is to bring Board of Education policies up to date and to work with the superintendent on long-range plans for the future of the school system.

Another new committee has been set up under Leonard Hymerling, who is also chairman of the buildings and grounds committee. The new group will be known as the School Construction Committee. Other committee assignments for Board members:

A. Robert Trudel, instruction; John Donal, finance; and Lawrence Thompson, merit salary study—all re-appointments; Mrs. Richard Schoch, transportation; George Grace, ad hoc committee on the sale of bonds for the new school; Mrs. John McAndrew and Mr. Pearson, public relations.

BABY SURVIVES FALL

From Second Story. Three-year-old Joseph Miller fell out of a second floor window of his home at 75 Clay Street Sunday evening and escaped with a possible concussion and lacerations of the mouth. The height of his fall was estimated at 15-20 feet.

He was taken to Princeton Hospital by the police and his mother, Mrs. Geraldine Miller, and admitted. His condition was reported later to be satisfactory.

TEEN-AGER FINED

In Traffic Court. Roger T. Lyman, Jr., 18, of Carter Road was fined a total of $65 for three separate traffic offenses by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. He was fined $25 for speeding, another $25 for a noisy muffler, and $15 for overdue inspection.

was Gershone White, 37, 371 Mt. Lucas Road. He was fined $30 for speeding and $10 for no tail light. He pleaded guilty to both infractions.

In other cases, Richard S. Giske, 18, Bunker Hill Road, was fined $10 and had his driver's license revoked for 30 days for disobeying a traffic officer's signal. Levy Davis, 45, of 50 Leigh Avenue paid a $12 fine for a one-way-street infraction.

For driving with an expired registration, Arnold R. Voorhees, 27, Route 27, and James C. Clark, 22, 30 Bank Street were each fined $15. Richard Petty, 17, of R.D. 1, and Charles F. Westoff, 33, of 223 Herrontown Road both paid $15 fines for overdue inspection.

In criminal court, Sidney Kidd, 35, 21½ Jackson Street, was sentenced to 30 days in the Mercer County Workhouse for being drunk and disorderly in the Princeton Hospital on Friday. He pleaded guilty. Kenneth Tatum of 174 Birch Avenue was fined $25 for assault.

BIRTH LIST

Twin Boys Among 19 Arrivals. Twin boys were among the 19 children born to area residents last week in Princeton Hospital. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hugens, 9½ Patton Avenue, on February 16.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hoguet, 113 Westcott Road; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Reeder, 141 Hunt Road, both on February 12; Mr and Mrs. Douglas Merritt, Washington Street, Rocky Hill; Mr. and Mrs. William Denison, Cranbury Neck Road, Cranbury; and Mr. and Mrs. Felix Perone, 481 Ewing Street, all on February 13.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Demos Bakoulis, 181 Snowden Lane, February 14; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Nelson, 21 Edgemere Avenue, Plainsboro, February 16; Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Sams, 2 Griggs Road, Cranbury; and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lacy, 7 Cranston Road, Franklin Park, both on February 17.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett, 224-A Harrison Street; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sewardson, 70-A Cleveland Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Don W. Graffis, 117 Kendall Road, Franklin Park, all on February 15; and Mr. and Mrs. George Tkacs, 252 N. Harrison Street, February 16.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Armstrong, Provinceline Road; Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Mehl Jr., Long Hill Road, Neshenic, both on February 17; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kidd, 417 Alexander Street; and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nice, Box 163, Rocky Hill, both on February 16.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Raybuck of Millstone Road, Cranbury, on February 4.

Prof. and Mrs. Francis J. Anscombe, 182 Prospect Avenue, are the parents of a son, their second. The child, Anthony John, was born February 7 at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, Philadelphia.

COLONIALISM IS TOPIC

Of Edge Lectures. "Colonial Freedom" will be the series title of this year's Walter E. Edge Memorial Lectures, to be given next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, February 27 and 28 and March 1, at 8 p.m. in 10 McCosh Hall. The lecture series, staged under the auspices of Princeton University, is open to the public.

Speaker will be Sir Hugh Foot, the last British governor of Cyprus before that island became independent and previously governor of Jamaica and of Nigeria. The first of his three lectures will be on "Preparation for Self-Government;" the second on "The Will and The Way; Relations With the Emerging Countries," and the third on "Present Dangers and Hopes for the Future."

The lectureship, established in 1957, is designed to bring to Princeton men who are distinguished in international affairs or national government. Honoring the late Walter E. Edge, twice governor of New Jersey and former United States ambassador to France, it was created by the governor's widow, Mrs. Walter E. Edge, a resident of Princeton and members of his family.

BANK GAINS IN RANK

According to Bankers' Survey. The First National Bank of Princeton is one of the 700 largest banks in the country, according to a survey released this month by the American Banker. The First National jumped 71 places, from its December, 1959 position as 766th in rank, to its December 1960 position as 695th.

In the American Banker's survey, the Princeton Bank and Trust Company ranks 741st. The rank is based on the amount of deposits on the last day of the year.

DUMONT TO SPEAK

At Nassau Inn. Wayne Dumont, Republican candidate for Governor, will speak at the Nassau Inn Sunday at 8 p.m. under the joint auspices of the Republican Club of Princeton and the Women's Republican Club.

State Senator Dumont is the first of the three Republican gubernatorial candidates to appear in Princeton. Former Secretary of Labor James Mitchell will speak on March 5 and State Senator Walter Jones on March 26. The meetings are open to the public and admission is free.

ALUMNI GATHER

Report $36 Million Raised. Princeton alumni, gathered for the 47th midwinter meeting of the National Alumni Association, learned on Saturday that $36,169,572 has been raised toward the $53 million campaign launched two years ago at the midwinter meeting. The $36 million has been contributed by more than 7,000 alumni and friends of the University.

Last year, on the first anniversary of the campaign, a total of $22,260,700 had been raised. James F. Oates, Jr., '21, announced the current totals at Saturday's alumni luncheon in Dillon Gymnasium.

In addition, more than $1,300,000 is expected from the University's 21st annual giving campaign for unrestricted funds, according to a report made to alumni by Amos Eno, '32, campaign chairman. Final figures were not available because the report was made before the February 22 closing date of the campaign.

The final figure for last year's campaign was $1,451,060. Gilbert Lea, Province Line Road, is chairman for regional organizations in the annual giving campaign.

Also at the alumni luncheon, President Robert F. Goheen announced that Jermiah M. Sullivan, senior from Old Orchard Beach, Maine, was the recipient of the M. Taylor

The setting changed from white to brown with the weekend thaw, and maybe a little green will begin to creep in soon. Or possibly more of the white again.

The Man wouldn't promise that winter was over; in fact, on the average, he said, March can bring as much snow as December. For the present, temperatures above average, rain Thursday and more again on Sunday.

THE STAGE IS THE THING: For the five plays in McCarter Theatre's current Shakespeare series, Hugh Hardy has designed a two-level structure which serves equally well for the antics of Robin Goodfellow and the meditations of Hamlet. The stage is 21 feet tall and extends out from the McCarter proscenium 15 feet. At the right and left, there are spiral stairways leading to the top level, and on either side of the apron over the orchestra pit, there are steps leading down into the pit. Three members of the APA company demonstrate the uses and levels of the stage. They are: Eulalie Noble, left, and Charles Herrick. Tone Musanta is on the upper level. (Alan Richards Photo).

News Of The THEATRES

COMING: SHAKESPEARE

In McCarter Series. "Twelfth Night" and "As You Like It" are the next offerings to be presented by the APA company at McCarter Theatre in the current spring series of five Shakespearean plays.

"Twelfth Night," starring Rosemary Harris as Viola, the heroine disguised as a page, and Richard Easton as Orsino, the Duke, will open this Thursday. It will also play this Friday as well as Saturday, March 18, both at 8:30 p.m. ("A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be given this Saturday at 8:30 and "King Lear" will be given at 2 p.m. this Sunday.)

"As You Like It" will open on March 4 at 8:30 p.m. There will be only two evening performances of this production, the second one on Friday, March 10. The theatre management advises Thursday subscribers to attend one of these two performances to avoid missing the play.

Allen Fletcher, director of "Man and Superman" and "The Importance of Being Earnest," will direct "As You Like It."

CURTAIN AT 8:30

For "Woyzeck" Saturday. This Saturday's performance of "Woyzeck" at Murray Theatre will begin at 9:30 p.m., it has been announced by Theatre Intime. Curtain for other performances will be at 8:30 p.m. The play will open this Thursday and run through next Saturday, March 4, with performances every night except Sunday.

Princeton residents in the cast are Miriam Kiss and Julia Fremon. Carrie Brown, scheduled to play the leading role of Maria, has been forced to withdraw from the show because of illness. Her part will be taken by Cynthia Robinson, a member of the Living Theatre, New York.

Others in the cast are Eric Rothstein, a graduate student at Princeton University; Montgomery Davis, graduating vice president of Theatre Intime and Roy Bacon of New York, who has previously appeared with the University Players. Josef Fitchett, graduating president of Theatre Intime, is directing the show and plans to enter the production in the New Haven Drama Festival this spring.

PRINCIPALS CAST

For "Guys and Dolls." The four leading roles in "Guys and Dolls," to be presented at McCarter in April, have been named. Tryouts for the chorus and other parts will be held Sunday, March 5. Those interested in female parts should come at 7 p.m., with casting for men to begin at 9.

Greg Farrell will play Sky Masterson, with Dot Farrell cast as Sarah Brown. Anne Sheldon will take the role of Adelaide, and Stuart Duncan will play Nathan.

The Community Players, one of the three sponsors with the Triangle Club and McCarter, will hold its annual membership meeting this Sunday at 8 p.m. in the upstairs lobby of the theatre. Officers will be elected, and plans for "Guys and Dolls" will be discussed.

in the performance originally scheduled for December 12 and cancelled because of the storm, know already his abiding and ingratiating genius as a mime and as a person.

For this McCarter Theatre performance, Marceau chose eight of his style pantomimes and six of the "Bib" presentations. In his style offerings, presented as the first half of the program, he began, not with the primer simplicities of "Walking" or "Walking Against the Wind," but with "The Staircase," which carries the audience a shade deeper into the pantomimist's art.

"The Tight Rope Walker," one of the most hilarious sketches of the evening, "The Sculptor," which drew an appreciative groan from artist members of the audience, "The Bill Poster," "The Carnival," "The Side Show," "The Public Garden" and the famous "Youth, Maturity, Old Age and Death" completed the first portion of the evening.

So complete is Marceau's mastery of the medium, that invisible props seem to be supporting his every creation, as in "The Bill Poster," where the invisible wall is almost palpable, or "The Public Garden," where one can almost feel the pull of the balloons clutched in the vendor's hand.

The famous "Youth Maturity, Old Age and Death" seemed, to this viewer, to have been changed from previous offerings. It seemed to be shorter and without the unbearable tension of a previous version, which was longer and more adroitly arranged toward an almost shattering climax.

In fact, the closing work of the evening, "The Mask Maker" had more of this quality of tension than the earlier presentation. In this sketch, the Mask Maker, after casually exhibiting his various wares in a superb mimist tour de force, is caught in a hideously grinning mask which he cannot remove. His despairing gestures, his panic-stricken clawings are heart-breaking in their intensity, and yet one is aware, through all this, of the superb technique and muscular control that can hold a clown grin through minute after minute of bodily anguish. It is a magnificent example of the fusion of the mimist's art and his technique.

OFF TO OFF-BROADWAY

With "Red Shoes." The Princeton Children's Theatre will present "The Magic Red Shoes" at the Players Theatre in Greenwich Village, New York, this Friday at 2 p.m. This is the second season for the young troupe. Last spring they played the Downtown and Royal Theatres in New York and last Christmas they gave two Princeton performances for the Theatre Intime.

Constance Loux, director and author of the play, will portray The Witch. Bruce Dunning, Princeton undergraduate, will play Sebastian the Magician. Lee Tim and Richard Aaron will play Gretchen and Nils. Other members of the cast are Ingrid Buck, Meta Thompson, Merilyn Buckland and Suzanne Friedly.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Wackiest Ship in the Army (February 22-28) is the worst picture Jack Lemmon has made in two years, but the best the Playhouse has shown in five weeks.

Lemmon is a young naval officer who is put in charge of a broken-down schooner in Australia. The crew is incompetent. Other officers are out to make Lemmon's life miserable. So far, so funny. But now the boat sets out to sea to do peripheral battle with the Japanese, and the film's "message" shifts from "People are funny" to "War is hell."

Ricky Nelson is the co-star. At one point he sings "Do You Know What It Means to Miss New Orleans?" Oldsters who remember Billie Holliday's rendition of the song in an otherwise undistinguished production called "New Orleans" may find it helpful to have ear-plugs ready for this sequence. The film is in Cinema-Scope and color.

Because the hospital corporation is using the Playhouse for its annual meeting, there will be no evening performances of "The Wackiest Ship in the Army" on Monday. The 3 P.M. matinee will be run as scheduled.

The Facts of Life (March 1-7) is Hollywood's answer to the question, "What can we have Bob Hope and Lucille Ball do that they haven't already done a hundred times on TV?" The answer: "Have them talk about adultery."

The plot, which deals with the obstacles modern suburben life places in the path of extra-marital hanky-panky, is vivacious, but it is more productive of nervous laughter than spontaneous hilarity. Miss Ball and Hope are no Method actors, and they give the impression in this film of being stand-up comedians dealing with material slightly bluer than usuel.

This is not to say that the picture doesn't have its moments, but the underlying leer is unpleasant. Ruth Hussey and Don De Fore are also in the cast.

IT'S NEW
To Us

FOR CINDERELLAS

New Shoe Store Opens. Women who are interested in shoes that are exquisitely made and designed either in the highest style or the most impeccable classicism, will welcome a new shoe store called the Nassau Shoe Tree, to open next Wednesday at 27 Palmer Square West.

The new shop will also have a children's department where boys and girls may sit imperiously on a three-foot-tall platform while Mary Janes are being fitted and mother is pondering her own purchase in the adjoining room.

For women, The Shoe Tree will present Palizzio, de Liso Deb, Joyce, Caressa, Dominic Romano. Look, for example, at the opalescence of a glazed finish kid pump in two shades of sand with a heel as high and dazzling as those crystal chandeliers.

Another pump is cream, avocado and palest tangerine with finely stitched bands seperating the varying sizes and shapes of the color patches. A classic patent pump draws the folds of its vamp into a small rosette at the side.

Bone calf has been used for a slim and pointed spectator. Another pump is gardenia calf with an ombre trim part way down each side.

And, on the theory that you may not want to wear needle-heeled pumps every day of your life, Shoe Tree has a cozy oxford called "Cuddle Me; with moccasin toe, two-hole tie end a lovely palomino finish. A Ripple Sole shoe has a plain vamp with a serious two-hole tie and a white finish. Another Ripple Sole in bone has a slightly more tapered toe than the other, and a paisley lining that may make you want to take off your shoes.

For those who prefer a tieless loafer, there is a shoe—bone or black—with an egg-shaped patch of leather stitched over the shoe to form the vamp.

Romano sends to the Palmer Square Shop a shoe-and-bag combination in shades of blonde leather. The pump, darker on one side than the other, brings its dark side around to loop over the blonde vamp. The bag is a classic style, with handle. A camellia calf pump has an ombre vamp done in a harlequin pattern which is repeated in the small tab that hangs from the frame of the long, oblong bag.

The young customers have shoes by Kali-sten-iks, among others. These range in size from something so small it is almost new-born, up to school sizes. Caressa makes shoes for teens, and Alexis makes those delectable patent pumps that look so demure in dancing class. One style is cut low on the sides with a bow and a modified pointed toe. Another has a strap, just to inspire a feeling of confidence.

WHO'S TOO WARM?

You, Under Winter Blanket.

The time will come, yes, it will, when you'll turn on the air-conditioning and then pull up a light-weight blanket to make the temperature just right. Stone's Linen Shop, at 20 Nassau, is prepared for this eventuality with a collection of all-wool summer blankets from the looms at Wamsutta.

These are basket-weave blankets, bound on four sides with nylon satin and fashioned in so many appealing colors that you'll end up with half a dozen piled on your bed, just as though it were winter.

From the color samples at Stone's, you may choose cream, blue, yellow, pink, peach, turquoise, lavender or sandalwood. The blankets come in single, full or King sizes at $15.95, $18.95 and $26.95. Order now, before the best sets in.

Meanwhile, decron-filled comforters should do the trick. These come in a variety of patterns and fabrics, some designed for utilitarian wear, like the Provincial pattern ($10.95) in a good dark green; some designed for charm, like the white nylon ($13.95) with myrtle blue and pink peonies; some designed for the man of the house, like the horse-race documentary ($19.95) with white background and brown and rust figures.

Beige and Crystal

The new shoe store on Palmer Square has been decorated with its feminine customers in mind. A scheme of rose-beige and antiqued white serves to remind customers that ladies shoes are sold here, and that for combat boots you go elsewhere.

A rose-beige rug stretches from wall to wall, and the walls themselves are the same warm color. So are the gauze draperies that divide window from fitting room. There are crystal chandeliers and antique white French provincial chairs with rose-beige upholstery.

The children's alcove is the same, except that the walls are decorated with delightful stylized trees that hold in their branches a family of squirrels, some doves and a ferocious little tiger.

The children's room is well-served by a collection of quilted white plastic accessories designed to make a child neat, you hear me? Neat! There is a shoe-bag on which each pocket is the window of a house and a bottom pocket is the door. There is a laundry bag with the same motif and a pajama bag, too. A matching overall bib with an ice-cream cone on its cross-the-board pocket, could be worn downstairs as well as in the baby's chamber.

"Willie the Worm" is a pajama bag. Big red felt apple with emergent invertebrate.

In the linen closet—well, actually, it's become the plastic closet, the way things are going these days — anyway, wherever you keep the place mats, you'll find room for some new plastic sets. One is bottle green, rough textured, with a red poppy in diagonal corners. Polished cotton napkins.

MUSIC
In Princeton

A MEMORABLE CONCERT

By Princeton Symphony. The concerts of the Princeton Symphony, under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, continue to grow in stature.

The Princeton Symphony cannot, of course, compare with the best professional orchestras, such as the Cleveland Orchestra which played on the same stage so short a time ago. But in their appearance at McCarter Theatre on Monday night, the Princeton Symphony nonetheless presented a memorable concert.

The opening work, the Mozart "Sinfonia Concertante, K. 364" (one of this composer's enduring delights), was perhaps the least successful in terms of performance. The soloists, violinist Vicente Reale and violist Karen Tuttle, had a distinct tendency to rush the beat, and displayed a lack of timbral homogeneity.

Mr. Reale's wiry tone, coupled with nervous vibrato and bowing, and Miss Tuttle's rather hollow sound, failed to produce the warm texture and relaxed phrasing which Mozart's music requires. The performance was not only insecure but perfunctory, on the part of both soloists and orchestra.

The second work on the program, Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis" for strings, is a favorite with orchestras that desire to produce rich and opulent sounds without much technical or musical effort.

To this reviewer it remains one of the most deadly bores in the repertoire: some 20 minutes of slow motion, parallel motion, and just plain lack of motion is more than he can endure. In the light of this bias, any comments on the interpretation would be superfluous.

After the intermission, the Hungarian pianist Annie Fischer (this year touring the United States for the first time) joined the orchestra to perform the Schumann Piano Concerto. It was a truly great performance, in fact it was, by far, the best live performance of this concerto that this reviewer has ever heard.

The impassioned surge, the warmth of tone and sustained phrasing, the uncanny timing and sense of motion that Miss Fischer brought to this work was nothing short of enthralling. The second movement, often unconvincing in performance, became a revelation in her hands.

The orchestra reacted as if electrified, producing vivid lights of a richness and breadth one would never have believed possible from the first half of the concert. The effect that one musician may have on 60 others is remarkable. Miss Fischer is a miraculous musician; compared to her most of the clean, dry pianists of the younger generation are poverty-stricken indeed.

Performances such as this one are great rarities, especially performances of this often-played concerto, which is seldom revealed in all its nobility and grandeur. After hearing Annie Fischer's performance, one doubts that even Clara Schumann herself could have done better.

"WHAT'D I SAY?" The rock-and-roll number that shot Ray Charles to fame has been called "the most primitive recording of the present era." The entertainer will appear this Saturday in Dillon Gymnasium.

IT'S CHARLES

Ray, in Dillon Gym. When Ray Charles comes to Dillon Gymnasium this Saturday at 8:30, he will bring with him a seven-man band to play the difficult and "tight" arrangements that Charles works out to hack his singing, piano and alto sax playing.

Also with Charles is a group called the Raelets, three girls who have been with the band for the past year and who have recorded, with Charles, "What'd I Say?," "Genius Hits the Road" and "Ray Charles at Newport."

For the Ray Charles performance, P.E.B. Attractions has assembled a newly-designed public address system which is said to improve the acoustics of the gymnasium.

CONCERT SCHEDULED

By University Orchestra. Walter Nollner, assistant professor of music and conductor of the Princeton University Glee Club, will appear as soloist in Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 25 in C major, K. 503, with the Princeton University Orchestra this Sunday.

The concert, second in the season for the University group, will be given at 3:30 in Alexander Hall on the Princeton campus. Admission is free. Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct.

Two Handel works and a rarely-heard composition by Richard Strauss will round out the program. The orchestra will play the overture from Handel's opera, "Rodelinda," and the suite from his ballet, "Terpsichore." The Strauss work is "Kampf und Sieg" (Battle and Victory), first performed in 1894. Musicologists believe that the work has never been performed in the western hemisphere.

FOLK SERIES COMING

To McCarter. "The Weavers," credited with starting the current folk-song boom, will launch a spring folk-music series when they appear in McCarter Theatre on Friday, March 17, at 8:30 p.m.

The second attraction in the series will be Odetta, who will present a program of blues, work songs and ballads on April 22. The singer has recently made her screen debut as Nancy in "Sanctuary."

A Gospel Concert, featuring Clara Ward and the Ward Singers, Professor Alex Bradford and the 100-voice Abyssinian Choir will close the series on May 13. These performers, who have sung in concert halls and backwoods revival meetings and at jazz festivals in Newport and in Europe, are noted for their performance of Gospel music. They sing a mixture of sacred and jazz forms.

Subscriptions for all three concerts are now on sale for $8.75 and $6 at McCarter and may be reserved by calling WA 1-8700. Tickets for single performances can be reserved now and will be filled ten days before each concert.

kins are swarming with the red poppies. Set of four: $9.95.

For paler occasions, there is a delicate pink plastic mat, "hemstitched," and absolutely plain. Linen napkins to match. The same mat is available in a range of colors that includes, not only pastels, but brown, ombre, and so on.

Other mats, in pastels by and large, display "applique" of white plastic against the color. There are oval mats, and shell-shaped mats which are like graceful half-circles.

One of the giddiest new mats is a woven nylon that looks almost like a petticoat. It comes in blue, pink or white and has quarter-inch fringe all the way around.

HORN AND HARDART

Comes to Pennington. No need to put a dime in a slot: the new Horn and Hardart section in the Pennington Quality Market is self-service just like the rest of the market.

The new H and H offerings range down the whole of your marketing list, from freshly-made salads like cole slaw, health salad, potato salad and so on, to fish cakes, oyster pie, scallops en casserole, clam patties and other timely Lenten dishes, to desserts of all kinds.

In the dessert line, you'll find rice custard and bread pudding in casseroles, cocoanut custard pie, brown Betty, fruit jell and so on. Vegetables include creamed fresh mushrooms, baked macaroni and cheese, both en casserole, creamed spinach, spaghetti in tomato sauce and Harvard beets.

The market is located at Route 69 and Delaware Avenue in Pennington.

Pennington Quality is particularly pleased with the Horn and Hardart soft white bread, baked fresh every day in Grandma Hardart's kitchen, probably. The fresh apple pie (ditto) and the Hot Cross buns (ditto) are on a sort of special this weekend, along with the tossed green salad, but after they go off "special" they will still be available at those agreeable Horn and Hardart prices.

SCOUT WINS EAGLE RANK

At Troop 50 Court. Mark Masterton, Neshanic, a student at The Hun School, received from his Eagle Scout father the Eagle Badge, representing the highest attainment in scouting, at the Court of Honor held Thursday by Troop 50 in Trinity Church. Mark's brother is also an Eagle Scout.

A feature of the Court of Honor was the presentation of the Eisenhower 50th Anniversary Achievement Award to 19 boys and to the Troop as a whole. The award is given for community service and successful advancement in scouting.

John Bailey and William Krueger were advanced to the rank of Life Scout. William MacLean, Peter Martinson and Ding Macnamara were advanced to First Class and Robin Barber was advanced to Second Class. William Gaman, Hector Griswald, David Metzger, Jonathan Ratner, Harry Stokes, William Krueger and John Bailey received Merit Badges. Christopher Stokes, James Sylvester and Gregory Van Doren were admitted to the Troop as new scouts.

"Friends" Activities Disturbing

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I address myself to the disturbing activities of the self-named "Friends of Princeton Hospital". The depth of my concern is confirmed by the fact that this is the first letter to an editor I have ever written in my life.

I would not presume to impune the motives of anyone but I think the "Friends" methodism leaves much to be desired and can produce serious results.

Stripped of fine phrases, this is a proxy fight to "throw the rascals out because others can do it better." The printed releases telling only part of the story, and a very active personal solicitation to sway the vote of corporation members, can easily rive the community to no creative end.

The real crux of the situation lies in the quality of the Board's administration which is a factual background versus the assumption that others can do it better. Both my wife and I have had close associations over a great many years with three major metropolitan hospitals. By comparison, we are keen on what we see and what we have experienced in our limited association with the Princeton Hospital.

All must recognize that institutions of this sort are never free of small controversies, factional disputes, and complaints, mostly unjustified. No doubt, the present Board and the Administration has fathered some but the real question is, "What Board would not err and to what more serious degree"?

The "Friends" make great capital of the need for new blood and new ideas. New blood is questionable since change for the sake of change is not enough. As for a dearth of new ideas, the Princeton Community being what it is will never find itself in that vacuum.

The "Friends of Princeton Hospital" are wedded to the principle of rotation. There may be hospitals that operate well on this basis but I do not know of them. The hospital business is highly complicated by comparison with the average commercial or manufacturing enterprise. Businesses do not rotate Boards because experience and expertism, hand in hand with continuity, make for the best management.

I have had considerable experience with rotating Boards for local charities and at the national level, and I can say without equivocation, the losses tend to be greater than the gains. This is because too many perfectly nice, well meaning people are ready to accept an appointment without regard to its special requirements or making a mental commitment to undertake the work load. Where rotation is used, the toughest problem of all is to find something to keep the knowledgeable and responsible people interested in the interim of returning to office since it is only a small hard core who make any organization tick.

If the "Friends of Princeton Hospital" elect their full slate of people (one-third of the Board) some of the remaining Board may lose interest because of a feeling of repudiation, a sort of conviction without benefit of full evidence. If such a decimation occurred with the attendent loss of experienced leadership, it can be a tragedy. Let them move with caution.

For one, I am very happy that the Princeton Hospital has a Board made up of dedicated men and women who give so generously of their time and money to the hospital but are not members of the Corporation.

These are the proven friends of Princeton Hospital. I shall very hopefully vote for the slate proposed by the existing Board at the meeting of the Corporation with the certain belief that there are a great many others who think substantially as I do.

THANK YOU, NO: Frank Maddalon (left) and Richard Edwards speak for both the old and young generation when they say no trading places with one of this country's seven space astronauts. For the comments and reservations of other reluctant spacemen, see below. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Given the opportunity, would you want to trade places with one of our space astronauts?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Samuel McDowell, Province Line Road, owner of Country Mouse: Not on your life! I have very little faith in their ever achieving whatever they are trying to do.

Frank Maddalon, 286 Alexander Street, Notre Dame High School senior: If they had the proper safety devices, I'd go. Otherwise, no. I would want to have every possible assurance that I was coming back.

Richard Edwards, 283 Harrison Street, engraver: No, because I don't think the first few are going to come back, at least the first one, anyway. I think they are pretty brave guys to take a chance at it. I'm not that brave. I'd prefer to watch it on TV!

Richard Newman, 32 E. Broad Street, Hopewell, clerk and amateur photographer: I wouldn't mind going for photographical reasons and out of curiosity to see what is out there. I imagine I would be able to get some good pictures of stars and other celestial bodies. The trip would also supplement what little knowledge I have of space. It would be an experience, all right.

Mrs. Kenneth M. Ritchie, 289 Western Way, housewife: I'm afraid not. I know the world I live in; I don't know anything of the space world. Maybe I've reached the age where security means a great deal.

Irving Dunn, Graduate College, chemical engineer: I like to climb mountains, but I don't think I'd like to go up in the sky. I have a certain amount of yen for some danger but this looks a little too much touch and go at the moment. I like to have things under my control.

Burton Weiss, Witherspoon Hall, University student: Yes, assuming they're going. I'm not sure whether it's the scientist or the adventurer in me—maybe it's both—but I have always wanted to.

Albert Kreu, 49 Park Place, mechanic: If I were single I wouldn't mind taking a chance, but I'm married and I feel it's too risky.

Harry Wright, 40 Murray Place, equipment manager: No, thank you. I like it too well on earth. There are a lot of things here to see yet.

Mrs. Trudy Mercer, 252 Mercer Place, housewife: No, I am quite happy down here. I haven't yet thought of spending any time in space.

Roger Nostbakken, Brown Hall, Princeton Theological Seminary, minister: Oh, I don't think so. I'm a Lutheran minister. I feel I already have my calling without being called out into space.

Edward Grant, 357 Nassau Street, engineer: No, I wouldn't. I'll wait until 100 others have made 100 safe consecutive flights—then I'll go.

Edward Hill, 305 Johnson Avenue, Trenton, milkman: No sir, 'cause I don't have the time and I think earth is good enough.

Roy "Cupey" Coppedge, Rosedale Road, seventh grade, PCD: If I thought it were safe enough to go up, I'd do it. But if the rocket just before hadn't done too well or had crashed, I wouldn't do it.

Mrs. Joseph Brown, 34 Edwards Place, housewife: No. It might be exciting once you got there, but I would like to be certain of coming back.

Steve Keller, 1939 Hall, University student: Heavens no! I want to stay right here. Security. There are jobs that have to be done, but, as far as I am concerned, there are other jobs I could do more efficiently.

William Moffo, 321 Ewing Street, body and fender mechanic: No, I've got a family and there is always the possibility I wouldn't come back.

Ronald Rosdeo, Graduate College, architect: No, I wouldn't. Not to begin with, anyway. I'd wait until it was safe. They have their field and I have mine.

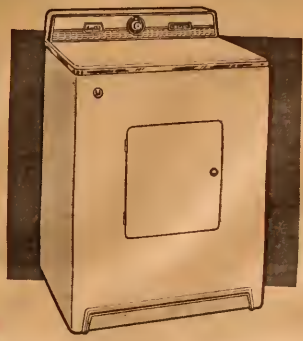
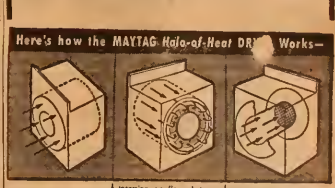
DON'T BE A DRUDGE...
BUY A DRYER



Here's how the MAYTAG Halo-of-Heat DRY[illegible] Works—


New Maytag Air Intake Filter of fine fiberglas covers entire air intake opening, filters dust and dirt from all incoming air. Your clothes dry in cleaner air than ever before possible on any other dryer. Dryer interior stays cool.
Incoming air flows between drum and cabinet, keeps heat in, cabinet cool. Air then passes over heating element circling front of drum and is heated to safe, low temperature of 100° to 116° F. Reverse air flows plus unique location of element eliminates hot spots, gives uniform drying temperatures throughout dryer.
Extra capacity blower circulates air through dryer drum at the rate of 150 cubic feet per minute. High velocity air circulation plus low heat dries every fabric and garment quickly and safely. All air is exhausted through filter in rear of drum

Trustee Rotation Ill-Advised.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

There have been a number of letters recently from an organization which has chosen to call itself "Friends of Princeton Hospital." Undoubtedly this group has the best intentions and feels very sincerely that it can be of essistance in improving the hospital — a commendable objective indeed.

On one very important point, however, it is the feeling of the writer that perhaps this organization is off on e wrong tangent — namely, its advocation of more rotation of the members of the Board of Trustees. Feeling that perhaps by being too close to the forest to see the trees, I contacted a member of the Board of Trustees of another hospital in New Jersey, similar to the Princeton Hospital. On the question of rotation of board members this gentleman said, and I quote: "It takes at least three years for an intelligent individual on the board of e hospital to learn and really understand the meny problems involved— after that they begin to be an asset to the hospital."

To this may I add that the most successful corporations in this country retain directors year after year only replacing them because of illness, lack of interest, or for incompetence. A good board must have continuity and for a hospital this is more important than for other corporations in other fields.

The Princeton Hospitel has an intelligent, dedicated and capable board. It is well run — has an excellent medical staff and above average employees.

It is suggested that the "Friends" of the Princeton Hospital could be of greater assistence to it if it concentrated its efforts in the direction of fund raising.

Bad Economics, Good Medicine.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Princeton will hopefully miss what the American Medical Association terms its "all out effort" to block President Kennedy's proposal to provide some hospitel and related benefits for oldsters through the social security insurance system. Characteristically, the AMA publicists have dubbed this reasonable and humane method of financing, "a deadly challenge."

According to a New York Times report, the Association's public relations consultants have prepared posters entitled, "Socialized Medicine and You" which physicians will be urged to post in their offices. In cese the full impact of the challenge is lost on some influenza sufferer, the AMA suggests that their members discuss the dreaded implications with their patients "frankly." The report implies that paid radio and television spot announcements will bring the warning to those in good health as well.

There is one danger in all of this which is as insidious as any of the boogymen conjured up by the AMA lobby. The doctor who in our society is justifiebly held in high regard, is being urged to offer to the gullible large doses of bad economics interspersed with good medicine.

Princetonians interested in learning more about the need for low cost hospitelization insurance for retirees and about the most reasonable way yet proposed to finance it may contact the New Jersey Committee for Health Insurance, 245 Nassau Street, Princeton.

Reply to Mr. Tibbals.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

After reading Mr. Lester Tibbals' third or fourth "State of the Princeton Fire Department" message to Town Topics, I seriously begin to wonder what motivates Mr. Tibbals to criticize so profoundly.

Perhaps, as many people are prone to do these days, he would like to shift his responsibility to someone else.

Not for a moment do I censure Mr. Tibbals' right to criticize. This is certainly his prerogative as a resident in the Princeton area; but I do wonder is Mr. Tibbals' own house "in order?" Has he provided for escape routes? Has he instructed HIS family what to do, IF there is no ladder? — IF there is no porch roof?

As a father myself, I feel that in any emergency I am responsible for the well-being of my family. If I do not have the foresight to anticipate a catastrophe such as a fire, I certainly cannot bleme the consequences on my friends or neighbors.

No fireman, rescue squad man or policeman can assume the obligation that Mr. Tibbals owes to HIS family.

As a fireman, I would like to assure Mr. Tibbals that we do not consider ourselves infallible, and that we are constantly training and studying, trying to make the Princeton Fire Department a more efficient organization. If Mr. Tibbals can devise a better and quicker way to respond to an emergency than is presently in effect, the Fire Department and the entire Princeton Community would certainly be grateful to him.

I trust by the time Mr. Tibbals writes his next letter to Town Topics he will have given this problem some serious thought and thet he will have devised detailed ways to circumvent whet he feels to be present inedequecies.

A Fine Fire Department.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Many times since the night of January 29 when a devastating fire gutted the home of our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hart, I have relived the horror of those hours in which the firemen were battling the blaze. As the days have gone by since then I feel it not only a duty but a privilege to express admiretion and appreciation for the members of the Princeton Fire Department.

The speed with which the firemen responded to the call and got to work was unbelievable. All three fire companies battled the fire for over three hours in the middle o the night when the temperature was five degrees. Frozen hands and toes added to their discomfort but did not hinder them from their task.

In eddition to her efficiency, I was most impressed by the spirit of the men. For approximetely 150 Princetonians, fire fighting is the civic responsibility which they have volunteered to shoulder even at the risk of their lives. The citizens of Princeton have e Volunteer Fire Department of which we all can be proud.

Tax Taxpayers Fairly.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

I was impressed to see that in your issue of February 12-18 you devoted your "Question of the Week" feature to the need and recent proposal for increased state taxes. Surely this is the most vitel issue confronting the New Jersey state legislators. Without additionel revenue, the State government can not maintain even its present services.

What struck me particularly wes that whereas sentiment was largely in favor of increasing revenues, there was no emphasis on the fact that in view of the State's needs, the Governor's proposals are completely inadequate and would be only a stop-gap solution. New Jersey, though seventh among the states in per capita personal income, ranks 46th to 50th in its per capite expenditures for public education, higher edu-" n, welfare and highways.

We have the lowest per capita state taxes in the country but are third highest in per capita property taxes which are levied on the local level. If we want to stabilize the property tax, the State cannot solve its problems with mere nuisance taxes.

We need a broad-based tax, yielding substantial revenue, the burden to be distributed fairly among the taxpayers of the state. To my mind, only a broad-based state income tax can meet these criteria.

It can be levied so that an equitable contribution to government is derived from all but the very needy. It can be administered economically and effectively, and it is flexible; that is, we can raise rates by very small amounts if revenue needs are not met or, as in New York, give rebates if the revenue exceeds the needs. For the convenience of taxpayers, we can use the withholding technique, as does the Federal government.

THE GARDEN

The Virgin Spring (February 21-25), the most recently produced Ingmar Bergman film, is a shatteringly powerful and moving symbolic parable. The stars, most of them regular participants in Bergman's works, are Max von Sydow, Birgitta Valberg, Gunnel Lindblom and Birgitta Pettersson.

The story concerns a young girl who sets out happily for a long ride to church, where she intends to light candles for the Holy Virgin. Along the way she is raped and murdered. Her father later seeks out and slaughters her attackers, and finally questions God as to why one so innocent as his daughter should have been the victim of such evil. Eventually the father promises to build a church on the spot where his daughter died, and a spring miraculously trickles forth and bursts into a stream at the site.

As indicated, some of the above is pretty brutal stuff. This department has some thoughts on the increasing sadism of the movies but we will hold off expressing them until the next Alfred Hitchcock or Walt Disney film comes around. "The Virgin Spring" is too fine a motion picture for such protests to be meaningful. Recommended.

Fire Under Her Skin. (February 27) is a racy little French item that should be almost as entertaining as the hospital meeting at the Playhouse, with which it is competing. Some people named Giselle Pascal, Raymond Pellegrin and Philippe Lemaire are the stars. The film is a few years old, but it deals with subjects of contemporary interest.

To wit: A beautiful shop-girl marries a soldier, who takes her back to the farm he shares with his ungainly brother and a voluptuous teen-aged maid. The brother wants the wife. The maid wants the brother. The soldier gets killed. The brother thinks he's got the wife. But no! An escaped criminal comes staggering, shot, up to the house, and the wife nurses him back to health and falls in love with him.

Now the wife and the criminal go off for an idyll, which is terminated when the police catch him. She goes back to the farm. Meanwhile, the brother has started an affair with the maid. Etc. etc., etc. The acting is heavy-breathing, and the costumes are Early Bardot.

General Della Rovere (February 28—March 4), which has already won a number of festival awards is a fine Italian film directed by Roberto Rossellini and starring Vittorio de Sica.

Set in Italy during World War II, it traces the career of de Sica, who begins as an unscrupulous gambler and fixer, and rises to humanity and maturity. In a Nazi-sponsored plot, de Sica agrees to pose as an Italian general who has actually already been killed by the Germans. His reactions to the suffering and patriotism of his countrymen are studied with intelligence and perception, and Rossellini's unique ability to create suspense is constantly in evidence.

The film is in Italian and French with English subtitles. Recommended.

SPORTS In Princeton

TITLE IN SIGHT

As Tigers Head North. A pair of victories for the Princeton basketball team this weekend would virtually wrap up the 1961 Ivy title, and it is with this in mind that the Tigers will invade Cambridge and Hanover. Should they triumph twice while Yale and Penn, also on the road, fail to win both their games, they could write a successful finish to the campaign by trimming Dartmouth here on March 3.

It will take a combination of a thoroughly cold performance on the part of Princeton and a much better than average night for either Harvard or Dartmouth for the Tigers to lose. Both of the New England quintets are saddled with 3-6 marks, and both have consistently lost at home.

Such difficulty is extremely rare for Dartmouth, which has the league's leading scorer in George Ramming but virtually no defensive ability. Ramming should provide no major problem for Al Kaemmerlen or for Tom Adams, Kaemmerlen's substitute.

The latter handled him effectively in both the Tigers' victories over the Indians last season. Jake McCandless has been turning to his bench increasingly as Princeton heads down the home stretch, particularly since the last weekend road trip showed the starters tiring in the second of two tough games.

Columbia, Cornell Lose. Both of last weekend's opponents failed to stay with the Tigers during the first half, and the final 20 minutes became a rout in each instance. Columbia trailed by 11 (47-36) at the intermission but spent the last five minutes trying to ward of a 100-point total.

The Tigers had a shot left in the final second but had to settle for a 99-69 triumph. Of the five starters, only Jack Whitehouse failed to reach double figures.

Whitehouse had his best night of the season against Cornell as he hit for ten field goals with a fine 67 percent shooting average. The Ithacans used a collapsing four-man zone, with the fifth player going man-to-man on Pete Campbell.

The zone collapsed so thoroughly in an effort to stop Campbell and tie up Kaemmerlen under the boards that Whitehouse shot away as if he were practicing. By halftime, Princeton had a 40-24 lead; at one time the margin mounted to 62-36 before the reserves settled for a [illegible] final.

CORNELL HOCKEY HERE

In Baker Rink at 2. An improved Cornell hockey team, which is likely to finish out of the cellar for the first time since it joined the Ivy League four years ago, will provide the opposition Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink. The Ithacans trimmed Brown ten days ago for their first triumph in circuit play and should finish on top of the winless Bruins.

Surprisingly, Cornell has given Harvard considerable trouble this season, holding the league-leaders to 3-1 and 2-1 victories. Any tendency on the part of Princeton to coast might be costly, despite a 6-1 Tiger triumph earlier this winter at Ithaca. Dick Rotnem, a Country Day and Lawrenceville alumnus, whose home is at 130 Stockton Street, is a member of the Cornell squad.

Harvard Wins, 7-4. A fast start, precipitated to some degree by a last-minute Princeton goalie change, gave Harvard's impressive sextet a 7-4 victory Saturday. Captain Barry Van Gerbig injured his hand in pre-game practice and sophomore Billy Hill took over in the nets.

Understandably nervous, Hill had a rough first period, in which the visitors scored the first time they crossed the Princeton blue line and followed with three more to lead, 4-0. Thereafter, Hill settled down and the Tigers outscored the Crimson in the final two periods, 4 to 3.

Johnny Cook, a possible bet to take Ivy scoring honors as a sophomore, was credited with a goal and two assists. Doug Davis, Jim Wadsworth and Austin Sullivan made the Tigers' other goals.

In other action last week, Princeton came from behind to defeat the St. Nicks, 6-4, in overtime. A three-goal third period created the deadlock and Dave Hersey's sharp shot from 15 feet out won the contest at 1:43 of the extra session.

Yale at New Haven this Wednesday night and Harvard at Cambridge next Tuesday, a pair of tough [illegible] games, are the final contests away from home. A victory over the Blue, which has twice trimmed Dartmouth, is essential to a shot at runner-up honors.

WEIRD WEEKEND

Contests Delayed. A combination of the plane strike and fog raised havoc with Princeton's athletic schedule last weekend, causing disappointment to many who had returned for the University's mid-winter Alumni Day.

Evan Cornell's basketball team which had to come only from Philadelphia after playing Penn Friday, delayed its departure too long and got to Dillon Gym 45 minutes behind schedule.

Harvard planned to fly its hockey, swimming and fencing teams to Princeton, leaving Cambridge Saturday morning. The flight engineers' strike necessitated taking buses which were then slowed by the extremely thick fog. As a result, the 3 o'clock hockey game began at 9:15 and the 4") swimming meet started at 10 p.m. Run concurrently with the freshman meet, it finally ended at 1 a.m.

Swimmers Impress. It difficult to say how much a day-long bus trip handicapped Harvard's swimmers but there is no detracting from the fine performance that Coach Bob Clotworthy's operatives p

The Tigers held the fine Crimson team to a 55-40 triomph, setting university records as they went in the medley relay and 440-yard freestyle. The latter went to George Brakeley, who turned in a fine 4:44.7.

Yale at New Haven will be on Saturday's schedule, with the Tigers no doubt wondering if they can record Princeton's first triumph over Yale in the sport in more than 30 years. The Elis are not quite up to their normal strength this season, but probably have the balance and depth to ward off the greatly-improved Tigers.

EASY VICTORIES SCORED

By Prep Schools over PHS. Lawrenceville on Wednesday and Peddie on Friday joined the growing list of quintets which have used Princeton High School as a sure way to increase their won-column by one. The prep school defeats were numbers 12 and 13 for the Little Tigers who have not won since December 20.

"We've tried everything under the sun," said PHS coach Tony Borzok, "but we just don't have any tall men. We haven't been able to control the boards in a single game this season."

Against Peddie, although it dropped a 51-41 decision, the Blue and White played its best game in weeks. The home team threw a scare at the opp on by taking a one-point lead at the end of the first period. A poor second quarter, however, in which PHS was outscored nearly two to one, enabled Peddie to notch its ninth win in 13 starts.

It was a different story against Lawrenceville. Larnes scored three times as many points as PHS did in the first period to take a commanding 23-7 lead and went on to topple the home team, 61-43. The only Little Tiger to hit double figures was Gil Fisher with 12.

Princeton High's lean season is nearing an end. The Little Tigers will tangle with Hightstown at Hightstown Friday at 7 and they'll end the season with a home game against Ewing High School on Tuesday.

HUN VS. CHRISTIAN

In Prep School Tournament. Hun's basketball team was scheduled to oppose Pennington School Saturday in a return game in the Seminary Gymnasium. Instead, the Red and Black quintet will meet Eastern Christian in the opening round of the New Jersey Independent Schools Athletic Association Basketball Tournament being held this year at Pingry in Elizabeth.

Hun raised its Penn-Jersey League record to 4-3 Friday when it beat Solebury for the second time this season, 57-43. The winning team hit on its first six shots to jump into a quick 12-2 lead and the visiting Spartans were never able to recover. "It was the best we've looked all season," said Hun coach Dan Barren.

With its early spurt, Hun led at the end of the first eight minutes of play. Solebury, defending Penn-Jersey champions, managed to narrow the margin against Red and Black reserves when it outscored the home team, 22-15, in the second half. Outstanding performer for Hun was Jay Maynell who hit for 19 points and grabbed 17 rebounds.

Hun lost its third and last non-league contest last week to Tower Hill, a strong quintet from Wilmington. The score was 78-59.

WOMEN'S SQUASH HERE

Pretty Brook Club Is Site. The New Jersey State Women's Squash Racquets Tournament will be held at the Pretty Brook Tennis Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The finals are set for Saturday at 3.

Co-chairmen of the tournament are Mrs. James H. Thornton and Mrs. Carl H. White, Jr. Others on the committee are Mrs. N. E. Woodworth, Mrs. Hector W. Griswold, Mrs. James Delano and Mrs. John Clagborn, president of the Princeton's Women's Squash Racquets Association.

All players have been invited to a luncheon by the Association at the home of Mrs. Hallett Johnson, Jr. on Thursday. Entrants are expected from Delaware, Pennsylvania, New York and Connetticut as well as New Jersey. The tournament is open to the public.

LARRIES TOURNEY BOUND

First Game Saturday. Lawrenceville's basketball team will carry a 0-2 record into the first round of the N.J.I.S.A.A. tournament this Saturday when it takes on Admiral Farragut Academy in a 3:30 contest at the Peddie School, Hightstown.

The quintet continued its winning ways last Saturday, trouncing Hill, 76-44. Chuck Miller had 22 points to lead the fast-breaking Lawrenceville attack.

The hockey team was scheduled to wind up its current season with a Wednesday afternoon game against Trinity-Pawling on the Lavino Rink ice. Pete Nichols had three goals to lead the Red and Black to a 7-1 victory over Hill Saturday. Jim Robbins registered two counters, and Dick Marshall and Lane Field each had a goal to round out the Lawrenceville scoring.

BOWLING NOTES

Tie in Faculty Loop. "C" Operations and MAAD remained tied in the Faculty League at the end of last week's Princeton bowling action, but it was a tie for first instead of fourth. Physics (73) was only half a game behind in that close race. Yeoman's Liquors (26) and Prince Laundro (32) held four-game margins over the second-place teams in the "A" and "B" Leagues, respectively, while Nassau Del and the Reformers were tied for first in the Industrial loop with 14 points each.

In the women's leagues, Applegate Floral Shop (42) held a six-point edge over Craft Cleaners in the Women's League, and Nassau Service was on top by four points over Forsgate County Club (18) in the Women's Industrial loop. A three-way tie resulted in the Mixed League between the Rose, Tote and Zeccola teams, all with 8 points each, and Kingston and Belle Mead were tied at 26 points each in the Fireman's loop.

Marilyn Lowe rolled the high women's score last week with 232 in the Women's League. Other notable scores included Millie Trani, 201, in the Women's loop, and Georgia Shuren, 216; and Dot Moore, 203, in the Women's Industrial. High men's scores included Nick Scuteari, 233; in the Industrial League; Joe Baldini, 222-213, and Jim Kahny, 201-214-206, in the "B" loop; Dom Perrine, 224, in the "A" League; and Eddie Hughes, 235, in the Fireman's loop.

JED GRAEF
Princeton Swimmer

For about three minutes Saturday night, Harvard's Bob Kauffman, one of the best swimmers on the best team in the east, held a Dillon Pool record. It lasted as long as it took Princeton's Jed Graef, an 18-year old freshman, to get into the water and shave virtually a full two seconds off the mark Kauffman had just set.

In the varsity meet, Kauffman touched a flip of the hand (one-tenth of a second) ahead of Tom Welch, Princeton senior, to win the 200-yard backstroke in 2:06.5. Shortly thereafter, Graef covered the same distance in 2:04.8, a tremendous performance and one that came close to midnight after hours of waiting for Harvard's foghound bus to make the tortuous trip from Cambridge.

Graef not only got the pool record back for Princeton but chopped 2.6 seconds off the national backstroke record for college freshmen. Who held the record he broke? Graef.

A graduate of the high school in his home town of Verona, N. J., the highly-promising Princetonian began his career here by shattering the oldest swimming mark in the book. The record he broke was the time of 58.7 for the 100-yard backstroke which Al Vandewenge set in 1940.

Possessed of height usually associated with an end in football or a basketball player, Graef stands 6-5, weighs 193. Even before he enrolled here, a state and a national junior championship had fallen to his credit. Versatility is among his qualifications: he is a member of the freestyle relay team which set a freshman record Saturday.

After almost half a dozen years of trailing teams it once defeated easily, Princeton is moving upward again in swimming. Jed Graef figures to be a big part of the brighter future.

DEAR TRAVELEX,

The wheels of the Princeton Hospital Fete are beginning to run on their usual well-oiled wheels now and it makes me feel nice and hot-weather - ish to think about it. Just imagine! June third! Why don't we really get ourselves in the mood and go to Miami for a couple of weeks? Just lazing around in the sun would surely give everybody some good ideas. Anyone for swimming? Will you have a fresh water pool, a salt water pool or simply the plain old ocean?

Before you leave, though, look through your scrap bag and see if you have any pieces of leftover fabric or trimmings. The Friendship Club which as you probably know, always makes aprons to sell at the Fete, would greatly appreciate these left-overs. It takes only a yard to make an apron. Just take them to Mrs. Brandon at 20 Green Street.

Well, so long, see you under a palm tree!

Dear Bill—

Some people think ALLIED HOMEOWNERS ASSOCIATION is a real estate office, it is not. After you buy your home, they help to efficiently and economically maintain it. By the way, speaking about efficiency, they have just changed their telephone number to include all Mercer County. They did not change their address at 76½ Nassau Street. Their new number is TW 6-0720.

Stereo is in the air... Capture it brilliantly with...

NEW Medalist LINE

Right now many stations are broadcasting glorious music stereophonically, using separate FM and AM channels. Don't miss this new dimension in listening pleasure. EICO's new ST96 has two superb and entirely separate tuners one for FM, one for AM, mounted on the same chassis:

- Play them together for FM/AM stereo reception
- Play them seperately for FM mono or AM mono reception (or both at the same time! Move one against the another room, and listen to your favorite programs on FM while other members of the family hear theirs on AM!)
- Plug in FM-Multiplex* adapter for the ultimate in FM stereo broadcasting

Both tuners are capable of providing perfect, distortion-free, drift-free reception; both feature EICO's exclusive, precision, prewired pre-tronic® traveling tuning indicators which contract into coincidental points at the exact center of each broadcast channel!... And the entire set is easy to build from kit because all the most critical and difficult sections—the AM and the FM and IF stages, the FM "front end," and the pre-tronic tuning assembly—have been prewired and prealigned at the factory, reducing wiring to a minimum and assuring perfect performance.

*A new kind of stereo broadcasting which will be available in a short time.

See the ST96—and EICO's entire line of Best Buys to meet your every hi-fi need—in kit and wired form—at
